Administration in Nip And Tuck Battle in the House For Passage of Tax Legislation

Harrisburg, April 4—(P)—The administration fought a nip-and-tuck battle to obtain house passage today of the one-half of one per cent income tax proposal.

Defections in Republican ranks appeared in several quarters but Speaker Herbert P. Sore (R-Elk) expressed confidence that the GOP would win the necessary 105 votes to put the tax across in the house.

Shaky spots in the 120-vote Republican majority appeared in the five-member Schuylkill county delegation and among four assembly-

Criminology Pupil To Be Questioned In Death of Wife

Fresno, Calif., April 4—(P)—Search for an introspective criminology student, wanted for questioning about his wife's death, centered around Hollywood today.

Fresno Detective Lieutenant S. C. Vind said a telegram signed with the dead woman's name was received yesterday from Hollywood by the local Federal Housing Authority Office where she was employed.

Vind theorized it was an attempt by Edgar A. (Ted) Werner, Jr., 31, criminology student at Fresno State College, to delay discovery of his estranged wife's bludgeoned body.

The pajama-clad body of Mrs. Hazel (Bennie) Werner, attractive 31-year-old ex-WAC, was found Monday night on a couch in her apartment. A bloody hammer head was at her side. Her skull had been fractured. An autopsy indicated, however, she had been strangled to death.

Blood stained garments were found a few hours later in Werner's quarters.

Vind said police found scraps of a torn typewritten message in Werner's waste basket. The note, he said, was similar to one found on Mrs. Werner's door. That one said she was visiting friends.

Both the note and the Hollywood telegram were signed "Bennie H. Werner." "Bennie" was Mrs. Werner's nickname.

The telegram advised her employer she had gone away to think and "settle the problem concerning Ted."

The Werners were married about six years ago. They met here in World War II. Both were technical sergeants.

Mrs. Werner was the former Hazel Benson of 16 Sixth St., Quakertown, Pa., where her mother, Mrs. Alice Benson, and a brother, Norman, live.

Mrs. Miller said the association with Colonel McCormick, her uncle, "has not been a wrangle until recently," and she added: "I respect his views but I do not feel he has given sufficient respect to mine."

Colonel McCormick, president and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, which owns The Times-Herald, said through The Tribune he would have no comment. He said he planned to come to Washington to take charge of The Times-Herald.

Cancer Victim Who Received Greetings From 300,000 Well-Wishers Succumbs

Adrian, Mich., April 4—(P)—The body of little Bobby Hiltline rested today in the good earth he loved.

Bobby had dreamed of being a farmer when he grew up and running his own tractor.

The six-year-old farm lad died of cancer Friday at a hospital in Detroit. The day before he had looked out from his oxygen tent and whispered:

"I've got to get home. It's almost time to plant oats."

Those were his last words. He rallied the next day only long enough to smile faintly at his parents.

His plight had touched the heart of the world. Last month his mother, Mrs. Henry Hiltline, wrote the New York Times asking that a "few kind people" drop him a card. He was doomed to die soon of cancer, she said, and it cheered him to have the mailman drive up the lonely road leading to the farm home near Jasper. The world heard about Bobby's wish from the Associated Press.

More than 300,000 persons sent best wishes, money and gifts. If a letter contained money, Bobby rang it up on a toy cash register.

"To buy a tractor some day," he explained.

Funeral services were held yesterday.

Secures Divorce 41 Years After Desertion

Detroit, April 4—(P)—Peter H. Harris, 82, was granted a divorce yesterday from his wife, Evelyn.

He said she had packed up and left him 41 years ago when they were living in the south.

Circuit Judge Joseph Moynihan asked Harris why he wanted a divorce now.

"Just want to get it over with and get my records straight," Harris said.

"I don't want any more wives," he added.

Former Undercover Man Takes Stand

Pittsburgh, April 4—(P)—After a record-breaking 31 days of testimony by Judge Michael A. Musmanno, jurors in the sedition trial of three Communists today heard testimony by Matt Cvetie, former undercover man for the FBI.

Musmanno's 31 days on the stand set a record for Pittsburgh trials. Musmanno, acting as a private citizen, brought the sedition charges against three men—Steve Nelson, chairman of the Communist party of western Pennsylvania; Andrew Onda, party organizer, and James Dolsen, correspondent for the Daily Worker.

The judge's testimony was designed to show all three men advocated overthrow of the United States government by violence.

The defense maintained literature quoted by Musmanno included such materials as the Communist manifesto, which is read by economics students in any college.

The new witness, Cvetie, testified previously before the house un-American activities committee.

Bloodmobile Seeks 150 Pints Today

Scheduling 215 donors in the hopes of reaching the April quota of 150 pints of blood for the visit of the Red Cross mobile unit from Buffalo at the chapter headquarters in Market street today, workers reported just before press time a total of 71 pints, with six other donors in process of giving.

Two of today's donors were out of town visitors, Mrs. Ruth Gordon, here from Oakland, Calif., to visit relatives; and Mrs. Annabelle Dadey, of Buffalo, N. Y., who accompanied her father, Louis Lohnes.

Clarendon donors were called upon heavily in today's blood giving. The Marshall Larsen Post, VFW, having held a house to house canvass in that community recently to line up a prospect list.

The bloodmobile unit will make two visits to Warren county next month, the first on May 2, which will likely be in Youngsville, and another on May 29 at Warren State Hospital.

Zurick, 27, of Shamokin told them his tractor-trailer spun around yesterday as he applied the brakes, and crashed into Foust's truck. Zurick posted $2,000 bond pending a coroner's hearing.

PLAN MAPPED TO PUT CURB ON INFLATION

Washington, April 4—(P)—The administration was reported ready today with a tentative new master plan to stop inflation with interlocking business, farm and labor price controls.

Simultaneously, President Truman appeared set to take personal charge of the effort to woo labor back as an active element in the mobilization command.

Mr. Truman arranged to meet with the united labor policy committee, representing most principal unions, at the White House tomorrow.

Well-placed officials said economic stabilizer Eric Johnston has worked out the following tentative plan to close leaks in the anti-inflation dikes:

(1) To set an over-all limit on industry's profits; (2) to end cost-of-living wage increases on June 30; and (3) to freeze the "parity" formula by which farm prices are set.

Johnston's idea, the officials said, is to put an end to "catch-up" jockeying by business, agriculture and labor resulting in a never-ending, inflationary spiral.

Labor's representatives have refrained from participating in the mobilization program for nearly two months. Their gripe has been that big business is running the government's economic show, that wage controls have been too strict in relation to controls over prices, and that labor has been left out in framing big decisions.

All this has been denied by the administration's mobilization chiefs. But, meanwhile, the wage control program is stymied because the union chiefs won't go along.

Charles E. Wilson, the defense mobilization chief, is reported considering, after repeated overtures to heal the breach with the unions, a move to set up a labor stabilization board made up entirely of public members.

The senate-house "watch-dog" committee on mobilization today called Wilson as its first witness in public hearings on the progress of mobilization and the fight against inflation.

Washington, April 4—(P)—The White House today described as "an entirely misleading distortion" an article by Jonathan Daniels reporting that President Truman favors changing the system of congressional tenure.

Daniels, editor of The Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, a former Truman aide and Democratic national committeeman for his staff, is also the author of a Truman biography.

A Daniels article in the current Collier's Magazine, drew from Presidential Secretary Joseph Short the heated statement that the president "wishes it understood that Mr. Daniels has no authority to speak for him."

While advance copies of the article stipulated that stories about it would be for release in Friday morning papers, Short put no such stipulation on his comment.

Washington, April 4—(P)—The third award winner is Donald Schuler of North Warren, Warren County recorder and chairman of this year's Red Cross fund drive. He was found shortly before noon by members of the Jaycee Safe Driving Committee who had been touring Warren for 90 minutes in search of a winner.

The surprised Schuler said he would turn over his winnings to the Red Cross which is nearing the end of its drive.

Jaycees Logan Bolon and Robert Buyer saw Schuler's car first when it moved out of its Market street parking place and went south to Pennsylvania Avenue.

After making a left turn signal Schuler piloted his car on Pennsylvania Avenue east to a point adjacent to Dan's Chevrolet garage. There he made another left turn signal before entering the garage.

Schuler said he took his car to the garage to have his recently installed signal devices put in top shape. He told the Jaycees he was well aware of the safe driving campaign because he attended the Warren County Motor Club meeting which voted financial aid to the campaign.

Other contributors are Floyd Konklm, Paul Yagge, Logan Bolon and the Garrison Insurance Agency, all insurance dealers.

One of the things that sold the Jaycees on Schuler was his signaling at the Pennsylvania avenue and Market street intersection. Most motorists failed to make any signal at all there.

Several times during their search the Jaycees were obligated to pass up a prospect because of some glaring error. One woman who nearly won the prize spoiled her chances by backing halfway down a school block, past an intersection.

Trustees Elected at Annual Meeting of Oakland Cemetery

Milton L. Witz, Noble grand of the Warren Lodge of Odd Fellows was elected a member of the board of trustees of Oakland Cemetery at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening during the weekly session of the IOOF lodge. He succeeds Frank X. Miller, who recently resigned from the board when he moved from Warren to Florida to make his home. The term of Mr. Witz is for five years.

Annual reports for the cemetery showed that the board held twelve regular and four special meetings during the past year. There were a total of 51 family lots and 18 single graves sold; 173 interments made with the cemetery tent being used for 35 funerals. The board will hold the annual meeting next Monday evening at the cemetery office when officers for the year will be elected.

During the meeting a rising vote of thanks was extended Mr. Miller for faithful service during the 17 years that he served as a member of the board, ten of which he filled the office of president. Mr. Miller had long been active in the affairs of Warren I.O.O.F., being a past noble grand of the lodge and past chief patriarch of the encampment. He was recently retired by the Warren Gear Products Co. where he had been employed for many years. A vote of thanks was also given members of the board and the superintendent, Victor Fladry.

The cemetery meeting followed the regular session of the lodge when announcement was made that new officers will be installed next Tuesday evening. The pinocle tournament was resumed during the social hour that followed the session.

Fire Chief C. A. Albaugh reported firemen were called out 19 times during March, but loss from fire was only $15. One of the calls was a false alarm and five were for the rescuator.

A total of 459 arrests were made and fines totalling $613.50 were collected by the police department last month, according to the report of Chief Mike Egan. Yugoslavia accuses Russia of operating spy schools in satellite countries to train agents for espionage against Marshall Tito's government.

That isn't surprising, since Soviet spies have penetrated to virtually every nook and cranny of the globe. It's well known that Moscow maintains an elaborate counter-intelligence system and operates schools not only at home but in occupied territory and foreign countries.

However, we should be very naive if we thought Russia was the only country having such a system. Every major nation in the world—including our own—has its agents at home and abroad. Deputy Premier Matyas Rakosi of Hungary a year ago paid us the compliment of claiming that America maintains "the greatest spying organization in the world."

Let us hope Rakosi is correct, because there's plenty of work to be done by counter-intelligence agents. You will recall that not long ago America, Canada and Britain made a concerted drive against Red spies with startling results.

Scores of FBI agents, working with the British and Canadians, spent months in putting together bits of information from all sorts of sources to complete the picture. One outcome was the arrest of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, top British atomic scientist, on FBI information. He was convicted and sentenced to 14 years imprisonment in England.

Counter-intelligence agents these days have to be not only smart and brave, but they must have careful training. Counter-espionage no longer is merely a mata hari affair of tricking the diplomat into giving up deep secrets to the beautiful girl—although of course women are employed in the service.

Counter intelligence isn't by any means confined to diplomatic and governmental affairs. More often than not the agent will find his task in munitions plants and other vital industries among the ordinary workers. He labors among the "little people" rather than the diplomats or government employees, but he may ferret out invaluable industrial information.

The counter-intelligence agent who gets caught is out of luck. The penalty is imprisonment or death. In the Russian satellite states great number of "spies" have been sent to prison or have been executed. And of course there is much the same story in the far east.

The presence of Communist agents in Yugoslavia is a natural development, especially in view of the bitter feud between Marshall Tito and Moscow.

SCOUT PROGRAM HELD AT GRACE METHODIST

(Written for the Times-Mirror by Post Reporter)

There were 72 persons present Monday night when charters were presented to Explorer Post 2 and Boy Scout Troop 2 at Grace Methodist church.

Preceding the program a turn-out dinner was enjoyed by the Explorers, Scouts and their families. Harold Ericson, Clark Grosch and Bill Wehner, Jr., three of Warren's promising young Magicians put on a 45 minute exhibition of magic that would do justice to Blackstone.

C. C. Winans, Scout Commissioner, representing the Warren County Council then presented the charters to the Explorer Post and the Scout Troop.

School Teachers In Youngsville Given "Bonus" Increases

All Youngsville borough teachers on active duty in the current school year were granted a $200 cost of living bonus at Monday night's meeting of Youngsville school board. The report of the financial committee listed receipt of the final portion of the state reimbursement for teaching units, amounting to $29,699.09.

The budget committee announced no budget has been set up as yet. Several matters are to come before the legislature affecting the final drawing up of a budget, and the committee is waiting to see what the legislature does.

Bills in the amount of $600 were approved for payment. Tax Collector Raymond Barton requested exoneration of payment of personal taxes for a list of 102 taxpayers. The board granted permission for 94 of these, and refused eight. The 94 granted include people who have died or moved away, but whose names are still on the tax list until removed by the assessors.

Discussion of the summer recreation program was held, and the board decided to obtain the reaction of parents by means of a questionnaire to be mailed out. If interest enough is shown, a program will be instituted for a six weeks' period from June 18 through July 27 for both boys and girls.

Pleasant Township Tureen Supper Is Attended by 85

Approximately 85 persons were present for the very fine tureen supper held in the Pleasant township Grange hall by the Pleasant Firemen's Auxiliary. Tables were attractively decorated with spring flowers by Mrs. C. W. Zinger and her committee.

Mrs. Frank Valone, president of the Auxiliary, stressed the community cooperation given the project of raising funds for the benefit of the fire company and Mrs. Ross Woods, treasurer, reported on Auxiliary activities through 1950 and told how the money-making projects were carried out.

The Auxiliary then presented a $500 check to Glenn Elliott, president of the firemen, to be used for the fire truck. Mr. Elliott expressed his thanks, on behalf of the firemen, for the financial support of the Auxiliary as well as for the good will it has created throughout the community. In the absence of Fire Chief Ebert Clark, the assistant chief, Raymond Yaegle, also expressed appreciation of the efforts of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Entertainment was presented both before and after the supper by Ben Huckabone's Accordion Band. Group singing was enjoyed, led by Mrs. Valone and accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Myron Rapp. Herbert Wentz was accompanied by his daughter, Janet, in singing three selections. To conclude the evening, two interesting films were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Vance Weld and Archie Hunter.

Everyone attending had a very enjoyable time and expressed the hope that another get-together will be planned for the near future.

Rushing Daughter to Altar? She May Turn Up 'BOFH'

A HOME economist recently warned fathers that they should encourage their daughters to marry men bound for war. If not, she pointed out, they may wind up LOFH—"left on father's hands."

It's certainly true that parents can be overly-cautious about a daughter's marrying. If they are afraid for her to take any chances, such as marrying a man bound for war, or marrying a man whose present job looks like pretty small potatoes to her father, or marrying a man who hasn't finished his education, she may very well wind up LOFH.

However, in this matter of marrying a man bound for war, parents are right to be cautious.

It makes a big difference whether the boy is one she has grown up with and would marry eventually, anyhow, or whether he is someone she has met recently and the romance has been rushed along simply because the young man is bound for war.

OTHER FACTORS ENTER IN

It also makes a difference whether or not the girl is mature enough to be willing to give up good times to play the role of a waiting wife and whether or not the young man is mature enough to have some plans for the day when his Army life is over.

All other things being favorable, the fact that a young man is bound for war shouldn't make the girl's parents consider him poor husband material.

Parents have to be willing for a girl to take some chances.

But they've a perfect right to discourage a marriage they feel wouldn't work even if the young man weren't bound for war. For, as a lot of parents found out after the last war and its epidemic of hasty marriages, there is something worse than having a daughter LOFH.

And that is to have a daughter BOFH—"back on father's hands"—with a broken marriage behind her, and perhaps even a child or two for father and mother to take into their home and help bring up.

EVER try dill with pork chops? You'll like it.

Baked Dill Pork Chops
(4 servings)

Four shoulder pork chops, salt, pepper, flour, 2 onions, chopped, 2 dill pickles, chopped, 1½ cups water, 2 tablespoons pickle juice.

Season pork chops with salt and pepper; roll in flour. Brown chops on both sides in a little hot fat in skillet; then transfer to casserole or small roaster. Add onions and pickles. To skillet in which chops were browned, add water and pickle juice and heat to loosen the pan drippings; pour over chops. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until very tender.

Lamb shanks are cheaper but can be turned into a wonderful dish.

Braised Lamb Shanks and Noodles
(Serves 5 to 6)

Three lamb shanks, ¼ cup flour, 3 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2½ tablespoons fat, 1 cup sliced onions, 1 small green pepper, seeded and sliced, 1½ quarts boiling water, ½ pound wide noodles. Have your butcher cut each shank into 3 pieces. Combine flour with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Roll meat in this mixture, and brown thoroughly on all sides in the hot fat. Then add onions and green pepper, and brown slightly. Add boiling water, remaining 2 teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; cover and simmer for 1 hour. Then skim off excess fat; add noodles, cover, and continue cooking about 20 minutes or until noodles are tender. Serve shanks in center of platter with noodles and gravy around them.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Mary Mangus Has Rare Musical Opportunity

Mary Mangus, music student at Mansfield State Teachers College, was among 150 singers selected to participate in the second annual festival of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Choral Association at Lock Haven this past weekend. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Mangus, 11 Melrose Place.

Nineteen colleges were represented in the chorus, which was under the direction of Dr. Lara Hoggard, choral director for Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians. The piano team of Morley and Gearhart, featured on Fred Waring's concerts and broadcasts, added their talent to the program and Mr. Waring himself was narrator for the climactic number, "The Song of America."

Students participating described the conductor as magnificent, accomplishing almost unbelievable results in the way of diction and music interpretation in three short days of rehearsal, and are most grateful to Mr. Waring for lending Dr. Haggard to give this most wonderful and inspirational musical experience.

Bake Sale Boosts Canteen Fund $100

Members of the Canteen Youth Board and Hi-Y Club are most appreciative of the cooperation of the many friends who donated baked goods and made purchases for the Saturday bake sale at the B and B Smoke Shop and Metzger-Wright store.
More than $100 was cleared in the sale and will be applied to the fund for lighting fixtures for the Canteen rooms.

The building committee of the organization still has much work to be done to finish up the building and will undertake the work as money is raised.

Various parts of the Canteen need painting, plaster and touch up work on the walls of the main building and in the rest rooms. Marked improvements can be seen month by month, however, as working parties of young people are keeping busy.

This week the Canteen is open Wednesday afternoon and Thursday evening, with the Beaty seventh and eighth graders holding their dance Friday night. A Dungee Hop is scheduled for Saturday with everyone welcome.

When Gen. Ulysses S. Grant went to West Point, he disliked the idea intensely.

Sheffield Civic Association Holds Annual Election

Sheffield, April 4—A new board of directors was chosen for the Sheffield Civic association at its annual meeting last week. The directors were to meet this evening for an organization meeting but the session has been postponed to Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Jones Chevrolet garage.

Elected directors were Miss Mary Richwalsky, Clinton DeBolt, Laurence Miley, Arthur M. Boardman, Kenneth Boardman, Donald J. Curtin, Thomas Sanford, Archie Means and Irwin Kunselman.

At the annual meeting the treasurer reported a balance on hand of $1,994.81. This amount includes $212.28 donated by friends to the Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones Memorial Fund.

The association's auction sale plans are progressing rapidly with various organizations in Sheffield taking care of the many details. This week started the house-to-house canvass of homes for a list of articles to be contributed to the auction sale slated for April 27 and 28. These items will be picked up on April 21.

The Sheffield Girl Scout Neighborhood club will meet at 8 p. m. tonight in Friendship House with troop leaders, committee members and others interested in Scouting urged to be present.

John R. Burns of Barnes has been appointed by the Sheffield township supervisors to fill the unexpired term of the late H. S. Roberts as secretary-treasurer of the township. Burns, who has accepted the appointment for the yearly term, is a stock clerk at the Pennsylvania Gas Company in Roystone. He is a graduate of Hoff business college of Warren.

Mrs. Clair Fitzgerald returned to her home Saturday from Warren general hospital where she had been a patient for 16 days. Janice Hawley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Chamberlain of Barnes, underwent an appendectomy Saturday in Warren general.

PROTESTED INCIDENT
The "Trent Affair" involved the removal from a British ship, the Trent, of two Confederate commissioners bound for England by a United States war vessel. The British sent a stern protest. The incident occurred during the Civil War.

FREIGHTERS IN LAKE ERIE HAVING TROUBLE OPENING UP ICE LANES

Copyright, 1951, by Acme Newspictures

HOLD FIRST AMERICAN GOURMET FESTIVAL AT N. Y. RESTAURANT

TOUGH GOING—Although the freighter Perseus, right, opened traffic in Lake Erie three weeks ago, she's having a struggle now, accompanied by the William F. Stifel. Photographed almost a mile and a half off shore, the ships, with their cargos of pig iron, were fighting the ice again as a team and making very slow progress.

GOBS IN THE ALPS—Sailors from units of the Mediterranean naval forces, whose ships have put into ports like Cannes and Marseilles in southern France, take advantage of the proximity of the Alps for a skiing holiday near Auron. Posing here with skis instead of swabs, the seamen found it a most welcome change.

PASS THE ASPIRIN—The man who first said "It's a dog's life" would get a violent argument from this little pup in Berlin, Germany. He's suffering from an ailment usually attributed only to humans—a splitting headache.

$500 WILL BUY—When George Fletcher, Chicago, bought a lioness as a birthday present for his wife, he didn't anticipate its growth. Sheiba, the 10-month-old pet, has gotten too big to be kept in the house and now she's for sale. Since she's too rough on auto upholstery, Sheiba rides in the trunk, but she does enjoy her drives.

FOR EXAMPLE—Not all spring training is done on baseball diamonds, as John Lehman clearly demonstrates on a sand dune at Nags Head, N.C. As he does a split in mid-air, his wife, Charlotte, pays close attention. They're both dancers, training for a local folk drama.

LAYING PLANS—Cleveland Indians' pitcher Bob Lemon discusses the upcoming season with coach Al Simmons, left, and manager Al Lopez, right, at the Tucson, Ariz., spring training camp for the tribe. Lemon, a 30-year-old six-footer, and a native of California, is trying this year for his fourth consecutive "20-or-more games won" season.

TO A BAD END—Lying dead in an alley in Seoul are two of the three guerrillas who tried to shoot it out with members of the Korean National Police. A third member of this Communist-inspired band was only wounded and taken prisoner.

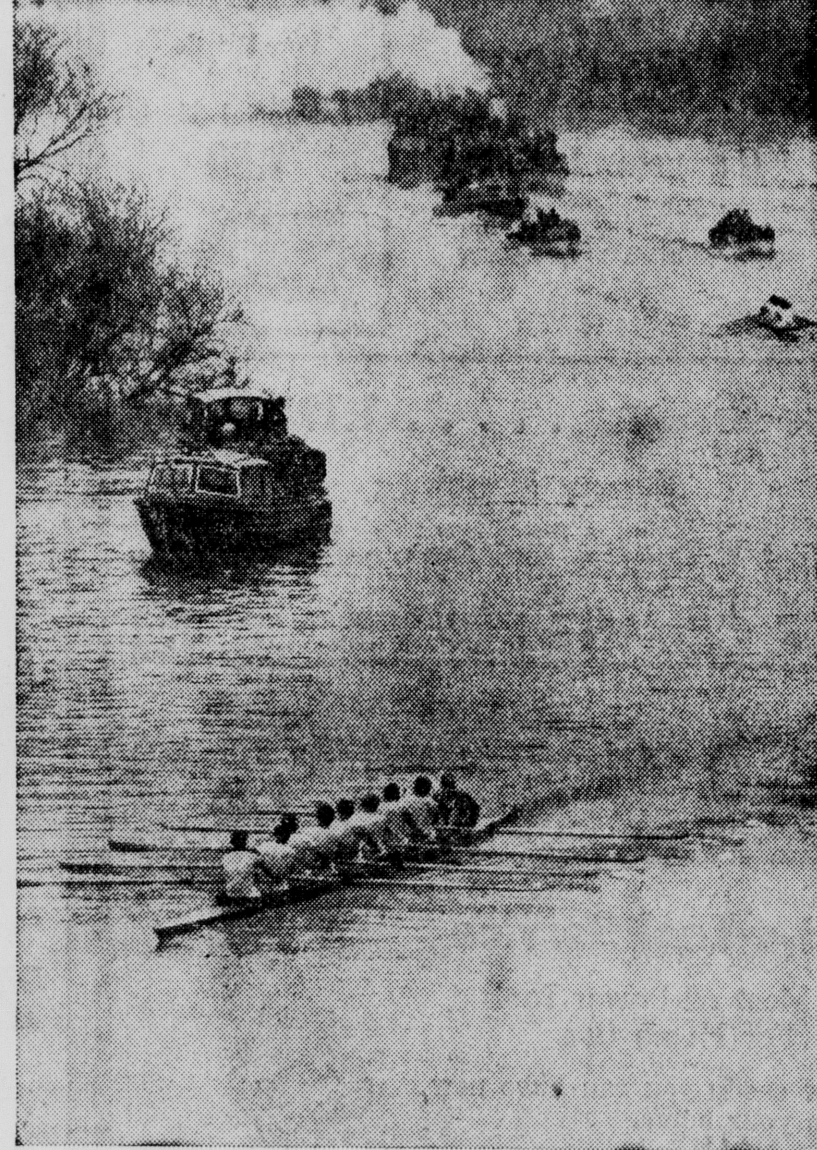

HELPFUL—Jean Sitarski, Miss Ontario Civil Service, is shown getting acquainted with the spring flowers in New York's Rockefeller Center. Jean wears the uniform of the receptionists for the Ontario Department of Travel which helps American tourists plan vacation visits to Canada.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO PARIS—When French models Stasin Kos and Leonie Vernet visited the kitchen of New York's Cafe Chambord, they created quite a stir. The girls were attending the opening of America's first Gourmet Festival and in honor of the gala occasion, they wore fantastic hats, representing Parisian landmarks. The chapeaux were whipped up for them in Paris to celebrate that city's 2000th birthday which calls for gaiety in 1951.

SHE'LL REIGN—Pretty Barbara Allen, Queen of the 1951 Festival of States, introduced this lace swim suit in black over pink at St. Petersburg, Fla. It adds a touch of glamour to a gal who is neither tall nor petite.

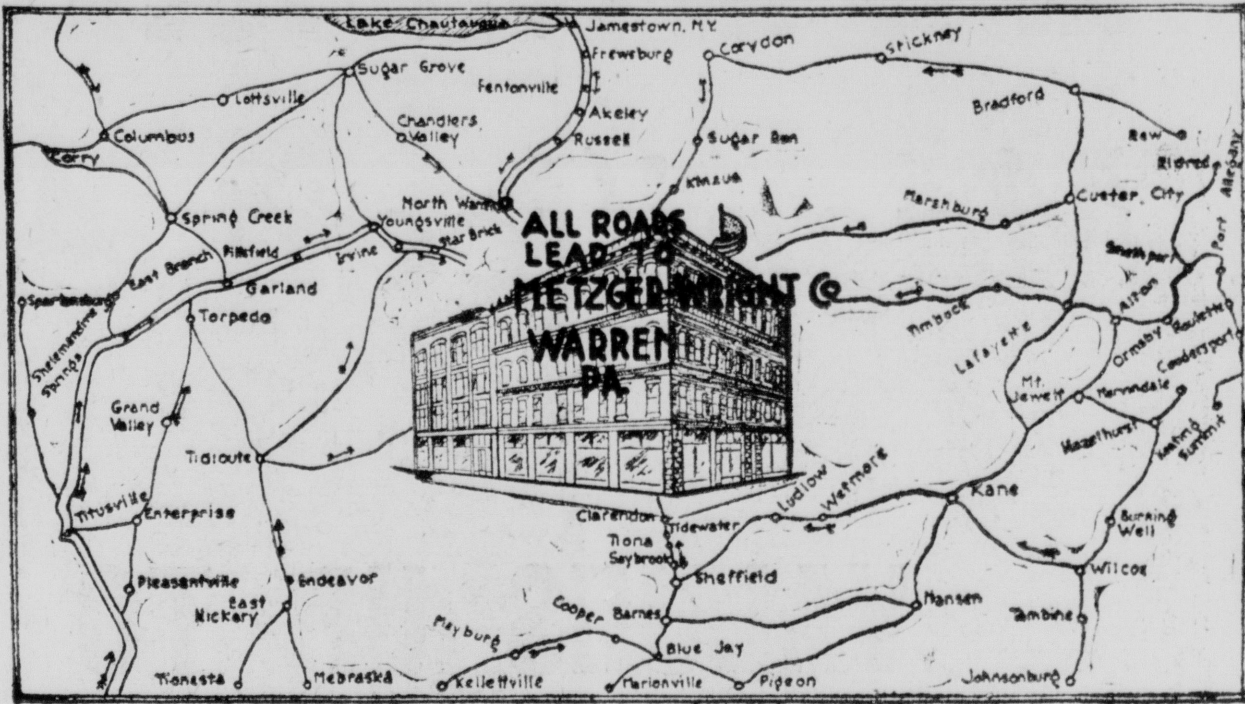

WINNING BY 12 LENGTHS—Cambridge crewmen rest on their oars on the Thames River in London after winning the re-row of the 97th annual Oxford vs Cambridge boat race. The Cambridge crew won by 12 lengths and rowed 4 1/4 miles in 20 minutes and 50 seconds. The first race was abandoned when the Oxford shell sank and the Cambridge craft became water-logged.

Civic Club Plans Old-Time Minstrel

North Warren Civic Club announces today that plans are under way and progressing satisfactorily for an old-fashioned black face minstrel show to be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 24-25, in the North Warren community house.

This year's show is being directed by Earl Ericson and will be produced jointly by the Civic Club and the Warren County Chapter Barbershop Singing Society.

A company of over 40 barbershoppers from Warren and North Warren will make up the biggest and best cast ever presented in this type of show in the section.

Announcement concerning progress of rehearsals, seating, tickets, and special acts will be made later.

Times Topics

CEMETERY AID
Wrightsville, April 4—Announcement is made that Cemetery Aid Society members will hold their regular meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Helen Hotchkiss, Youngville.

All members of the boys' work committee of the YMCA are urged to be present for the monthly meeting of the group to be held at 7:30 this evening at the Y. The various sub-committees will present their reports and special emphasis will be put on the camping program for next June.

SAVED BY PLASMA
Titusville Herald: A woman is alive today who would not have been if the Red Cross had not maintained a blood bank at the Titusville Hospital.

Attendants said the young woman became seriously ill in childbirth and had to have three blood transfusions. The blood was taken from the quantity kept on hand and supplied to her without cost for it. The need for the blood was urgent and precious time would have been lost in a search for donors.

The woman left the hospital yesterday with her baby. As she had been critically ill she was in the hospital for nearly four weeks, but she had improved steadily.

CLASS INITIATED—Initiation ceremonies were held last night by Scandia Grange for a class of 11 candidates, which will be known as the Albert S. Goss Memorial Class. Similar classes are being initiated by Granges throughout the nation in a drive for a million new members by June 20. The new members, shown here with Harry R. Chinberg (center, master of Scandia Grange, are: (seated, l. to r.) Elmore Johnson, Virginia Gardner, Frances Anderson, Ludovica Baran and Helen Alsbaugh; (standing, l. to r.) Robert Anderson, Kenneth Johnson, Donald Merkle, Louis Buvoitz, and Ruth Buvoitz. Times-Mirror Photo).

Today's Business Mirror

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, —(AP)—Count on the babies and the sturdy oldsters. They're creating the expanding market that makes optimists out of businessmen.

They keep America raising its sights on industrial capacity agricultural output, sales, profits, jobs and pay checks. They keep businessmen from worrying too much about a post-armament depression.

Doctors spanked breath into some 3,700,000 babies last year. The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, which always likes to see potential new customers coming along, notes that 1950 was the fourth year in a row that the American baby crop topped 3.5 million.

Older people live longer. And as the life term lengthens, and people have more and more babies, the U. S. population is increasing at the highest rate in history.

At the same time the nation's population pattern is shifting drastically, and businessmen find that their markets are not only growing, but also are moving. Sales and distribution set-ups of yesterday don't work today. Manufacturers are wondering where to put their new plants, where to find labor. They also find wage scales shifting fast among classes of workers. America just doesn't stand still.

Birth rates rise when economic conditions improve, the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. believe. And they report themselves at a loss in predicting how long the high fertility rate of the postwar world will continue.

But the high birth rate and the declining death rate combined to increase the U. S. population last year by 2,474,000. Fortune magazine notes that in the last six months of 1950 the rate of growth of 2,792,000, the highest rate in history. It predicts the country will reach the 165 million mark by 1956 or 1957—A goal which the pessimists of the 1930's thought we'd reach around 1990. Already the country has passed 151 million.

Effects on business markets have been great, offering more customers than anyone dreamed of 10 years ago. Even greater has been the effect of shifting population patterns across the nation, particularly the marked population growth of the far west and the industrial growth of the south-west and west, according to the advertising agency, J. Walter Thompson Co.

"The cream of the market may not be where it was 10 years ago, or even five," says the company. It reports the cream is concentrated in only five per cent of the total area of the country. The company means 162 market areas which hold one half of the total population of the nation and account for two thirds of the national retail sales volume.

The industrial population is shifting too. The Bureau of Labor statistics reports manufacturing employment has risen to a post-war high of 15.9 million, almost up to the wartime high of 16.1 million. The defense effort is expected to carry employment through the previous ceiling.

A shift toward durable manufacturing industries, markedly greater employee turnover, and a rise in average hours worked, are reported today by the national industrial conference board.

The sailors of Phoenicia sailed to Cornwall to trade for tin.

There are certain situations that every good player should memorize. A few times a year they are bound to confront you, and if you're ready for them you save many hundreds of points.

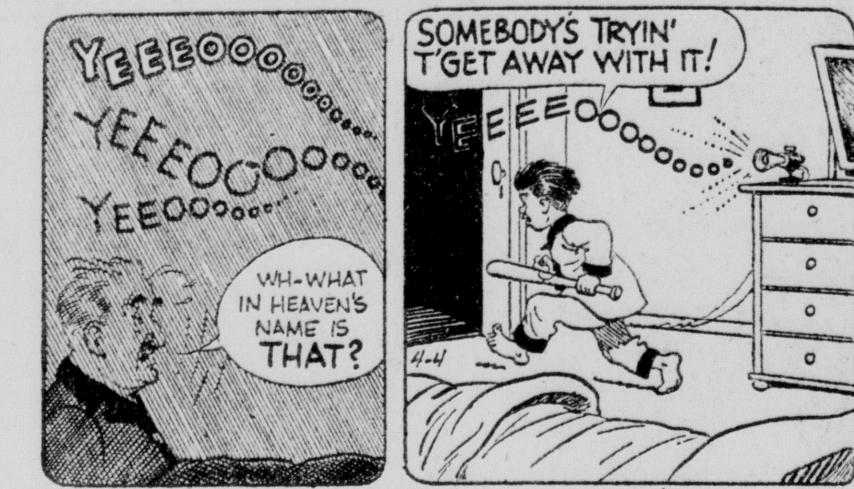

Keep your eyes on the West cards in the hand shown today. One of those important situations will soon develop.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and the defenders easily rattled off two tricks in that suit. South ruffed the third diamond, led a club to dummy's jack and returned a low spade. East played the five of spades, South finessed the queen, and West made the East and at the same time pick up West's ten.

East covered the jack of spades with his king and South won with ace, but now West's ten was established. Since the defenders were bound to win a heart trick sooner or later, the contract was set.

Now, all you memorizers, study the West hand. When you hold three to the ten in the trump suit, make sure to play the middle card on any first-round finesse. It may not always work, but it costs nothing to try.

Battlefield Makes Jamaica Bid Today

New York, April 4—(P)—Will Battlefield be as good a three-year-old this racing season as he was last year when he was voted the champion two-year-old?

The answer may be forthcoming today at Jamaica racetrack where the pride of the George D. Widener stable makes his 1951 debut in the $20,000-added six furlong experimental handicap No. 1.

This is the first big eastern preview of Kentucky Derby eligibles and has drawn an overnight field of 17 three-year-olds, of which Battlefield and 10 others have been nominated for the Kentucky classic at Churchill Downs next month.

Winner of $198,677 as a juvenile, Battlefield ruled a solid overnight choice at little better than even money despite the big field and his top weight of 124 pounds. Eddie Arcaro was slated to ride him from number nine post position.

OUTDOORS

When spring arrives and the housewife's eye takes on that speculative gleam, male members of the family excuse themselves for outdoor chores that have suddenly become urgent. Unfortunately, the men often employ fire as their cleaning tool in eliminating brush piles, dead grass and other trash.

Foresters think of this time of year, not as the period when growing things begin to clothe the countryside in soft green, but as the fire season when a tremendous and unnecessary loss in timber is the rule. Wildfires dread these days before green vegetation lessens the fire hazard. They have observed the terrible suffering and loss of wild creatures and their young and eggs caused by running fires.

When brush and grass fires get out of control, the lives of humans and their buildings are often sacrificed to the flame. Rural and suburban home owners especially should consider the possibilities of burning and should apply the match only when necessary and under extreme caution.

Conservationists repeatedly warn of the loss in fertility and the water holding capacity caused by forest and field fires. All things considered, the many-fold costs of such conflagrations far outweigh any advantages that such "cleaning" methods may appear to have.

These two stories were related by Norman L. Erickson, game protector at Emporium, who says that February brought some of the coldest weather of the winter in his section.

Erickson tells: "On February 7, Deputy Joe Zekoll patrolled and fed turkey feeders above Sinnemahoning. As he travelled along an old forestry road he noticed a grouse sitting on the hard snow crust. As he approached, the bird fluttered and struggled but could not get off the ground. Examining the bird Zekoll found that the grouse had accumulated a ball of snow, ice and leaves on its tail until the mass got so heavy it froze to the hard crust. The deputy broke the tail feathers loose and the grouse took off on its own."

"About two weeks earlier, Deputy Zekoll found a grouse sitting along the road on the First Fork. This bird was too weak to fly. Zekoll took the grouse home and fed it scratch grain. After the bird was nursed along for 10 days it seemed strong and full of life, so it also was turned loose."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 4—(P)—You can hear at least two versions of what's going on in the boxing trade hereabouts—both confusing.

The official version, heard in the IBC office, is that matchmaker Al Weil wants to bring in "every new fighter who should be seen in New York." He already has produced Rex Layne, Irish Bob Murphy and Bob Satterfield to the delight of the TV fans and a few cash customers.

There may be more by the end of May, for Bob Baker, sixth ranking heavyweight, will get his first New York showing at St. Nick's next week; young Chico Vejar is advancing to the main bout class and Paul Pender, flashy Boston middleweight, may appear here. . . . The guys who figure Al is shilling for heavyweight Rocky Marciano, managed by Al's son Marty, give it to you another way.

They claim Weil figured to give Layne, Murphy, etc., matches that would make them look bad and was unexpectedly rewarded with a series of crowd-pleasing windings. . . . but the question still is how the fighters can cash in on their new popularity on the air waves. The managers will meet Friday to demand more TV dough. They won't get much—and what can they do about it?

He Wanted A Live One

Johnny Clark, whose numerous activities include doing a bit of non-profit publicity for the non-profit Keenland race track, recently tried to get a photo of War Admiral looking at the statue of his celebrated sire, Man O' War. . . . Clark asked Bud Graves, War Admiral's negro groom, to lead the horse up to the statue. . . . Bud objected: "Don't think War Admiral would like dat, Mr. Johnny. He knows dat thing ain't alive."

Spots Before Your Eyes

Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson is flitting with the idea of building his secondary defense next fall around three 18-year-old sophomores, Larry Grigg, Billy Bookout and Jack Ging. . . . Grigg, at 175, is the biggest of the lot. . . . Jack Kramer, who says he is giving up tennis touring, may tackle tournament golf next. He shoots in the upper 70's without much practice and is a heck of a competitor at anything. . . . After those first four basketball battles between the Knicks and Syracuse Nats, it seems likely the referee's pre-game instructions tonight will be: "Step back when I say 'break!'"

General Grant was born Hiram Ulysses Grant but he was called Ulysses Simpson Grant by the congressman who appointed him to West Point.

Chapter 16

COMMON sense would have prophesied that learning he could not believe those who seemed to be his friends should have plunged him into a feeling of insecurity. It didn't. It made him suddenly relaxed and sleepy.

Neal and Val, and also Arthur Granger and Craig Blanning, all were together on this. What, then, of Granger's claim to being Nelva's father? Was that, too, a lie?

Perhaps only Nelva herself could tell him that. Until she did he would have to assume it to be a lie—to assume that Arthur Granger was NOT her father.

The whole thing was becoming clear now. It only made sense if it were assumed that both the Custodians and the Vargians WANTED him to look for and FIND Nelva—because they themselves didn't know where she was.

Or could it be that they didn't know WHEN she was?

"I think I'm sleepy enough to go back to the hotel now, Neal," Ray said, yawning widely.

RAY awakened to find Joe already up and dressed. His wristwatch said one o'clock. Val Nelson was there, too. Val and Joe never had any previous experience with telepathy, so I don't know really how to go about it.

"I don't know any more about it than you do," Val said. "I've been thinking though—do you suppose there might have been some special condition present, that first time that put your minds in tune with each other, and kept them that way long enough for the second successful attempt; but that it's gone now?"

"I'm beginning to think that," Ray said, giving himself a last inspection in the dresser mirror. "In fact, last night I forgot about the telepathy angle and concentrated on figuring out some way to get into the Vargian building where I think she's kept prisoner." He noticed the satisfied gleam that appeared for a split second in Val's eyes. "I'm ready. Let's go. I'm really hungry, too."

THE bus they transferred to was one that would take them right through one of the Vargian residential sections, Val assured them as they boarded it. Before

Chapter 17

MOST of the houses were new, but here and there Ray recognized one that had been in place in 1950. He could tell by Joe Ashford's face that he recognized these familiar landmarks too.

They were coming to where the old office building had been. A skyscraper stood there now, visible from blocks away. Joe had seen it too.

They didn't talk. There was no need to. Each knew what was in the other's mind. Ray stared up at the third floor windows in the space his own office had occupied forty-nine years before.

The windows stared back at him without hint of expression. The bus started. Ray fought an impulse to jump up and leap off the bus at the next corner.

The Vargians knew he was there. They MUST know he was riding the bus and had been looking up at that third floor line of windows. But they were carrying on the pretense of not knowing, just as Val Nelson was carrying on the pretense of not being their guard and warden. Would that pretense be kept up any longer if he were to jump off the bus and try to reach those offices? Probably not.

What would happen, then, if he precipitated things? Ray considered the possibility. It might be the only way of getting ahead in his search for Nelva. Or maybe at the underground office of Arthur Granger tonight they would give him a suggested line of action.

He decided to wait and see. Tomorrow he could still come here and precipitate things by a "foolish" impulse. But also, tomorrow a less foolish plan might be apparent. Also, there were new questions clamoring to be answered.

THEY reached Arthur Granger's underground office at dinner time. A table had been brought in and plates laid out in anticipation. Craig Blanning and Neal Smith were there also.

When Val Nelson brought them in the excused himself and was gone nearly half an hour. Ray wondered if he were reporting to the Vargians. He listened to Joe take the conversational ball and tell enthusiastically of the day's events, and was secretly glad he had left Joe in the dark as an innocent buffer against suspicion.

Arthur Granger was quite definitely hamming it when he showed concern over his "daughter," Nelva. It was well done. Ray realized that if he had not been looking with suspicious eyes he would never have spotted it as deception.

He listened, and speculated on the connection between these men and the Vargians, and what role Nelva played in all this. The possibility had returned that she might be a Vargian herself, now that it was fairly certain Arthur Granger wasn't her father; but the prospect wasn't hideous any more. Vargian women lacked the sex appeal of a small woman, but what they lacked in pettiness they made up for in grace of bearing and intelligence.

Val returned casually. It was a signal for them to begin eating. This time there were surprises. Fresh tomatoes and delicious steaks. They created in Ray a deep homesickness for his own age, 1950, trailing along behind this strange age of domination by the Varg Throth which apparently made the United States a colony of some unknown world peopled by Vargians.

He recalled what he mentioned to Joe so long ago: that they might be still living in this age somewhere, and they could possibly drop in and see themselves as they would be at seventy-five years of age.

The idea took hold. Who, of all the people alive in 1950, could he and Joe trust implicitly? Only themselves. If they could find themselves—actually their physical selves—they could find out what it was all about.

Or could they? Suppose he could find Ray Bradley 75 and talk to him. Could Ray 75 tell him, Ray 25 that tomorrow he would do this and that because he remembered doing it? If so, then Ray could remember what he himself would be doing tomorrow because Ray 25 he had watched him do it. That would make causes and effects entirely circular and repetitious. "Tell me something," he spoke up. "The others stopped talking to listen. Are either Joe or I alive today and seventy-five years old? Joe said before we started here into the future that he'd like to drop in on himself and talk over old times together."

"That brought a general laugh. That brought up and thought it would be wonderful. Arthur Granger opened his mouth, as if to begin to talk, when his face winced in pain. Ray felt sure Neal had kicked Arthur under the table. Evidently, he thought, they have had experience with Arthur Granger being foolish before."

"It's a very interesting possibility," Neal said, his eyes twinkling without any sign of his having kicked Granger to quiet him. "But are you sure you want to do that? Suppose the records show that both of you died in—say—1951? Then you would know that when you go back to your own time you will be going to your death?"

Very adroit, Ray thought admiringly. Probably Arthur was about to explain to me the impossibility of my finding myself at the age of seventy-five because it would involve a cycle trap, and Neal has conveyed just the right touch of seeming ignorance.

He decided to pursue the subject.

"It would be worth the risk of finding out such a thing," he said eagerly. "That would be an experience, to actually meet myself as a separate individual! What do YOU say, Joe? Should we look into it?" "I'm for it," Joe said enthusiastically.

"I suppose I'll have to confess," Val Nelson, who had just come in, spoke up, making a rueful expression. "I thought of that myself and looked up the records without saying anything, so if it turned out something like Neal suggested I could keep still."

"What did you discover?" Ray asked.

"Nothing," Val replied. "I found your birth records. I found evidence of a search for you on suspicion of having caused an explosion that wrecked a building. That's all. No death record, no current evidence of residence anywhere. Of course that doesn't mean you're dead now. It just means that if you're still alive, either one of you, there's nothing in the directories to tell where you live."

April Community Chest Publicity Month For the Warren Y. W. C. A.

It is announced by Nat W. Drake, Executive Secretary and Campaign Director of the Warren Community Chest Inc., that the month of April has been assigned to the Y.W.C.A. for special educational publicity in the new plan of the Chest to better acquaint the general public concerning the operation and activities of the nine welfare agencies receiving support from the local Chest.

Our Y.W.C.A. plays a very important and vital part in the everyday life of the community.

The year April has been chosen as on account of "National YWCA Week", which is an annual celebration, falling in this month and it will celebrate April 22-28 this year with open house and several special events at the local Y.

Mrs. Robert Whitehill, Executive Director, is doing an outstanding job in directing the affairs of the YWCA here, and announces activities for April, which represents a typical month with the exception of "National YWCA Week".

Such a busy schedule of activities surely emphasizes the importance of the YWCA in the civic life of Warren, and officials of the Community Chest feel that this organization fully deserves the support given to it from Chest funds.

Mrs. Whitehill has announced the following schedule of events for the month of April:

Monthly Club Meetings — Blue Triangle Club — younger business girls April 9, Ali-We-Je Club — older business girls April 19, Two-Four Club — younger married women April 27.

Dessert Meeting — (open to public) Musical program April 13.

Classes — Chair caning — each Tuesday; Ceramics — each Thursday; Providing room for Red Cross First Aid Classes each Tuesday and Thursday.

Y-Teen Committee Public Card Party — April 5 (for benefit of Y-Teen Camp Fund).

Duplicate Bridge — April 12 and 19.

YWCA News Letter published about April 10.

Board of Directors Meeting April 16.

Meeting of many of the 11 standing committees will be scheduled.

Three delegates will attend Eastern Regional YWCA conference in Boston April 13-16.

THE LATEST ON TUBERCULOSIS - - - - - By Alton L. Blakeslee

THE TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATE IS DECLINING, BUT ONLY VIGILANCE WILL KEEP IT GOING DOWNHILL. IT STARTS INSIDIOUSLY. BE ALERT FOR SUCH SIGNS AS TIREDNESS, LOSS OF WEIGHT, A COUGH LASTING 10 DAYS OR MORE, SPITTING OF BLOOD OR SHARP PAIN IN THE SIDE.

COMPLETE REST IS THE BEST MEDICINE, GIVING THE LUNG A CHANCE TO WALL OFF INVADING TB GERMS. AIR PUT IN THE CHEST WALL, OR SURGICAL REMOVAL OF RIBS, ALSO CAN HELP THE LUNG REST.

CHEST X-RAYS CAN DETECT SIGNS OF TB. TUBERCULIN AND OTHER TESTS THEN CAN CONFIRM IT. A NEW BLOOD TEST ALSO LOOKS PROMISING.

STREPTOMYCIN

SOME OF TB INVADERS AREN'T HIT BY STREPTOMYCIN OR OTHER DRUGS, AND THEY START A RESISTANT STRAIN. SO SEVERAL DRUGS ARE USED IN TANDEM, TRYING TO HIT ALL THE INVADERS.

DRUGS LIKE STREPTOMYCIN HELP KNOCK OUT TB GERMS—AND PROMISING NEW ONES ARE BEING TRIED.

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE ARE WINNING BOUTS WITH TB, AND ARE REHABILITATED TO FULL, USEFUL LIVES. PREVENTION AND RESEARCH ARE BEING STRESSED.

The Nation Today

By CHARLES MOLONY

(For James Marlow)

Washington—(P)—A 63-year-old lawyer or doctor or farmer earning as much as $25,000 a year can do better, financially, by chucking his career and going to work for somebody else at $3,600 a year.

That may sound crazy, but it's true—assuming our man has made up his mind to quit working and take life easy when he's 65.

The reason it comes out that way lies in the income tax law and certain changes in the social security law that took effect Jan. 1 under an act passed by congress and signed by President Truman last Aug. 28.

He could hardly do as well on an annuity bought out of his savings over an 18 month period as a doctor, lawyer or farmer unless, as a single man, he was earning over $15,000 a year or, as a married man, over $25,000.

Now let's see why that is so. Self-employed lawyers, doctors, farmers (and some others) aren't covered by the social security law, or more particularly the OASI provisions.

For anyone to become eligible for OASI benefits, he must work in a "covered" job—for the most part that means working in a concern employing eight or more persons—for a certain length of time, the span depending upon his age.

A man or woman under 45 years old would have to work at least ten years in a "covered" job to qualify for a benefit upon reaching 65. But people now aged 62 or older need have such a job for only 18 months.

Eighteen months' work will do for our man, all right, but to make matters simple and precise let's say he and his wife both turned 63 last Jan. 1 and he arranges to start his clerical job next July 1.

That will assure the couple the maximum benefit because he will have worked the 18 months immediately preceding his 65th birthday.

day at $300 a month, which is all he needs to do to assure them the full $120 a month top-size benefit.

During his 18 working months, he will pay a tax of 1½ per cent of his pay for government old-age and survivors insurance and his employer will match it. Each will pay $4.50 a month on his $300 monthly wage, or $81 each for the entire 18 months.

The first month's benefit checks to his wife and himself will more than make up the cash he paid to qualify for benefits.

Now let's see what our man would have to do to come out as well if he keeps on being a lawyer or doctor or farmer during the period from next July 1 to birthday anniversary number 65 on Jan. 1, 1953.

How much cash would he have to lay down to get an annuity that would bring a monthly benefit as big as the government offers him?

A government statistician who has checked it out with private financial institutions says it would cost our man about $11,500 cash to get $80 a month for life if he's single, or about $22,000 to get the $120-a-month deal for himself and wife.
